Wholesale Payroll has become an Environmentally Certified Sustainable Business

Wholesale Payroll (<https://wholesalepayroll.com/>), a Marco Island, Florida customer-focused, feature-rich, do-it-yourself payroll platform company, has pursued and attained the Edenark Group ISO 14001 environmental sustainability certification.

The Edenark Group ISO 14001 is the world's premier environmental sustainability certification program and allows SMEs (small to mid-sized enterprises) the ability to attain the world's most popular environmental certification standard via a program designed and priced specifically for them.

The program, which allows companies to progressively improve at a pace that works for their needs, helps the organization define how it interacts internally, externally, and with the environment. It incorporates energy/waste/water, employee health and performance enhancement, community involvement, procurement and suppliers, compliance and regulations, emergency/security, and stakeholder engagement. Benefits include creating a culture of continual improvement, stakeholder engagement, lower costs, higher revenues and profits, improved employee performance, and..... doing the right thing for the environment and current and future generations.

“Helping our clients achieve their goals while also operating our company in a fashion that protects our community and environment, is at the core of the Wholesale Payroll culture. We choose to be part of the solution and show other organizations how easy it is to grow your company while also doing good things for the world,” said CFO, James Murray, of Wholesale Payroll.

“Equally exciting, we are working with other organizations that have the same core beliefs. We purchase services via DataSetGo, which is also certified sustainable (<https://edenark.com/datasetgo-has-become-an-environmentally-certified-sustainable-company-under-the-edenark-group-iso-14001-program/>); and we provide services to, among others, TruPayroll, which is also certified sustainable (<https://edenark.com/trupayroll-has-become-an-environmentally-certified-sustainable-business/>). It is wonderful to work with vendors and clients that believe as you do: that you can provide superior service to clients and a wonderful work environment for employees; while also serving the greater good for your community and planet," added Murray.

"Wholesale Payroll, DataSetGo and TruPayroll are collectively a powerful example of how a supply chain should work. These three organizations found common ground in that they wanted to grow their own companies but also wanted to work with other companies that shared a belief in a bigger purpose. Given that certified sustainable companies under our standard report lower costs and higher sales and margins, these three organizations will be financially healthier and can serve each other better than if they were not certified sustainable. They are setting a higher bar for their organizations and will serve all their clients better," says David Goodman, CEO of Edenark Group. "They have agreed to adhere to the world's Gold standard for sustainability certification; are choosing to be a leader and part of the solution, not the problem; and are joining an elite fraternity of over 300,000 organizations, in over 150 countries, that have committed to continually improving in every way."
