

Growlity, Inc. and Edenark Group form partnership for global Carbon Neutrality and Net Zero Certification

Growlity (<https://www.growlity.com/>), a globally trusted management consulting organization who transforms businesses to achieve growth with sustainability®, with offices in Surat, India and Sheridan, Wyoming, and Edenark Group (<https://edenark.com/>), which offers corporate sustainability, carbon neutral, Net Zero certification and ESG planning, have formed a partnership to help organization become certified Carbon Neutral.

“As part of our service offering, we provide the Growlity Carbon Neutral Program. The Edenark Group ISO 14001/14065 Carbon Neutral Certification is a designation that our clients, located in India, the United States, Europe and Asia, will benefit from and we welcome the partnership with Edenark Group to broaden our service to our clients,” said Dr. Nitin Dumasia, President and CEO of Growlity, Inc.

“We support the work Growlity, Inc. does. There is synergy between the services they offer and what we offer. Their project management teams are already working with clients on sustainability and carbon neutral programs, making the data gathering process far easier for our analysis. We are excited to be part of their overall program,” said David Goodman, President and CEO of Edenark Group.
