Earlier this year, Safran Oil Systems renewed its Edenark Group ISO 14001 Environmental Sustainability Certification, showing continued commitment to the Earth and our environment.

For Earth Month 2023, Safran Oil Systems is excited to execute the following projects that have been in planning:

- Launching a Green Initiative
- Launching a trash sorting process for trash at every level of the company, separating regular vs recyclable trash
- Beginning the use of purchased blue trash bins for the office, shop and cafeteria
- Elimination of all Styrofoam cups across the entire organization
- Replacing plastic coffee stir sticks with wooden ones

“We believe in setting a high bar for our organization and during Earth Month, we invite other organizations to join us. We are happy to discuss our program and successes in order for your company to see the value and become certified sustainable also,” said Jean-Pierre Posset, General Manager of Safran Oil Systems. “We continue to evaluate operations to reduce our environmental impact and our team is enjoying the process.”
