

United Tech Employee Management Celebrates Earth Month with Energy-Saving Retrofit of Corporate Office

United Tech Employee Management (<https://www.unitedtechpeo.com/>), a Palm Beach, Florida-based, family-owned, employee leasing company that handles payroll, workers' comp, and unemployment administration became environmentally certified sustainable under the Edenark Group ISO 14001 environmental sustainability certification program. The company will re-open its corporate office at the end of Earth Month 2023, after a major energy-saving remodel and retrofit.

The energy-saving retrofit includes new insulation, a smart NEST A/C thermostat, new water-efficient toilets, a new low-energy refrigerator, and new LED lights.

“We are a family-owned business. We care about our community and the world we are leaving behind for the future. Serving people and protecting future generations is at the core of our culture. We decided to upgrade our corporate office to be as energy-efficient as possible,” said Kristina Smith, President of United Tech Employee Management. “We will use our new corporate office to present the benefits of environmental sustainability to our guests, including vendors, prospects, clients and community colleagues,” added Smith.
